SAYS STATE'S REVENUE BILL MAY BE REVISED

Ernest Bell, member of the legislative finance committee, who returned to Memphis from Nashville Sunday, says that the revenue bill probably will be revised until it is practically a new measure. Large increases in privilege taxes are expected.

The committee is considering placing a privilege tax of $1,000 a year on persons, firms and corporations engaging in title guaranty business and the placing of a tax of $150 a year on moving picture advertising concerns. Raises in privilege taxes on moving picture shows, abstract companies, soft drink dealers, dance halls and dancing academies, hotels, laundries, etc., are under consideration.

Mr. Bell said that the committee hoped to increase revenues from state privileges at least one-half million dollars.

The legislature will reconvene next
